Soccer has been an important part of Ian Chinich's life for since he began playing at the young age of 4. He filled both offensive and defensive positions through high school, though he preferred the fun of the offensive role much more.

Away from the soccer field, Mr. Chinich's interests revolve around literature, film, and music. He appreciates the great works of both philosophy and science fiction, and his taste in film ranges from the comedy of Monty Python to the classic Alien series. Musically, his tastes extend from jazz to heavy metal, and as a musician himself, he plays bass, guitar, and drums.
