

Covey Cowan

Van Acker Construction Associates Supervisor Covey Cowan

For nearly 10 years, Covey Cowan has served as a project manager and supervisor at Van Acker Construction Associates, a builder of high-end residential properties in the San Francisco Bay Area. He leverages his background in constructing homes and estates to manage designs, budgets, and schedules. Covey Cowan additionally meets with clients during the course of construction to discuss progress and identify necessary changes to meet their objectives.

Mr. Cowan previously owned and operated his own custom home building company. As general contractor of Seneca Builders, Inc., he offered a wide range of services, from new constructions to remodeling while offering multiple architectural design options and sustainability features.

In his leisure time, Covey Cowan enjoys exploring new cultures. He has traveled in Asia, Europe, and South and Central America. Additionally, he has spent a number of years studying with a Huichol shaman and been involved with building projects in Huichol villages.
