Born in Eufaula, Alabama, current Mountain Brook resident James Dixon studied business administration at the University of Alabama (UA) in Tuscaloosa. He also completed professional training in the fields of financial planning, branch manager development, and securities trading. In addition to his MBA from UA, he holds multiple licenses through the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority. Building on more than two decades of investment management and trading experience with Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc., James Dixon has served as managing director of Stifel Nicolaus & Company's southeast region since 2015.

When he isn't busy at Stifel Nicolaus & Company, he enjoys snow skiing in the winter and water skiing in the summer. He is also an avid hunter and fisherman. A supporter of many nonprofit organizations in the Mountain Brook community and beyond, he sits on the board of directors for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and actively supports the charitable initiatives of the Monday Morning Quarterback Club and the Birmingham Rotary Club.
