The president of Onyx Services Incorporated, Josh Price builds upon a two-decade-long career in the pipeline construction and maintenance industry. Servicing energy sector pipelines on land and underwater, Onyx inspects 850 waterway crossings and maintains over 500 miles of right-of-way pipeline each year. Under Josh Price's direction, this New Caney, Texas-based company has contracted with many downstream, upstream, and midstream oil and gas operators throughout North America. ONYX has an embedded culture of Safety and efficiency throughout their workforce.

Before assuming his present leadership role, Mr. Price garnered 17 years of experience as a commercial diver and underwater construction specialist. He started diving professionally at the age of 14 and began managing his own field crews at 18. He also learned to leverage his extensive knowledge of the underwater pipeline business to sell targeted services to major energy sector clients and was responsible for the profit and loss of the field operations under his supervision.
