

Chiedu Ebie

Commissioner, Delta State Ministry of Education

A former managing director and chief executive officer at Millenium Oil & Gas Company Limited (MOGCL), Chiedu Ebie oversaw the operations at Oza Marginal Field. While serving as a partner of two law firms, Okonjo, Odiawa & Ebie and Punuka Attorneys & Solicitors, Chiedu Ebie joined MOGCL part-time in 2003. After six years, he left law to fully commit himself to MOGCL. His leadership made it possible for MOGCL to inch closer to commercial production of the Oza Marginal Field expected to commence by the end of second quarter of 2015.

In addition to gaining experience in law and oil, Mr. Ebie spent a decade working at Leaders & Company, a newspaper publisher. Taking on a secretarial role, he helped with administrative tasks necessary for publishing THISDAY, a popular Nigerian newspaper. Today, Chiedu Ebie serves as Commissioner of the Delta State Ministry of Education.

Away from work, Chiedu Ebie spends his time maintaining his health through exercise and healthful eating. He also enjoys following Manchester United, his favorite soccer team, though he remains loyal to his home country of Nigeria and follows the politics and current affairs of his country very closely.
