An accomplished business and asset manager in Portland, Oregon, Martin L. Hudler embarked on his career as an award-winning real estate sales professional in Southern California. He continues to combine his significant real estate industry expertise with general financial and administrative skills in areas that include asset management, forward estate planning, and private restructuring. In addition to handling multi-family residential property for acquisition and development, Martin L. Hudler has completed large commercial projects for corporations such as Walmart and Bank of America.

Martin L. Hudler currently manages the investment firm Endeavor Investments and the naturopathic pharmaceutical organization Gold Standard Industries. His work with Endeavor centers on the acquisition, development, and management of commercial and multifamily assets. His work with Gold Standard Industries brings cannabidiol oil and other hemp-based health products to the consumer marketplace. Mr. Hudler is also an avid supporter of the US military who has made significant financial contributions to Navy Seal Teams. Being an asset manager for over 30 years has allowed Martin Hudler to understand the needs of those with whom he associates, which allows Martin to preserve wealth, reduce tax liability and grow the net worth of his clients and partners.
