Co-Founder of ION

A successful health care executive with considerable experience in the field, Jeffrey Goffman currently serves as the chairman, chief executive officer, and co-founder of Integrated Oncology Network, LLC (ION). Established in 2009 as a national cancer center development and radiation oncology management company, ION counts Zions Bank and Madison Capital Funding among its debt partners and includes shareholders such as Comvest Group and Capricorn Investment Group. As the organizational leader of the company, Jeffrey Goffman has helped it invest in more than 20 radiation cancer centers and partner with some 300 physicians.

Before taking up his current duties, Jeffrey Goffman spent nearly a decade as the founder of OnCURE Medical Corp. In this position, he oversaw all business activities at the outpatient radiation oncology care provider while managing approximately $32 million in EBITDA.

Mr. Goffman holds a bachelor of science in accounting from the Barney School of Business at the University of Hartford.
