Lawyer Jeremy Goldstein Provides Counsel on Executive Pay Matters

In 2014, attorney Jeremy Goldstein founded the private law firm Jeremy L. Goldstein & Associates, LLC. He concentrates his practice on executive pay and corporate governance issues and provides counsel for CEOs, compensation committees, and management groups during corporate transitions and other complicated scenarios. Complementing his work with the firm's clients, he belongs to the American Bar Association Business Section and acts as chair of the Mergers & Acquisitions Subcommittee.

Highly evaluated in his practice area, Jeremy Goldstein has received designation as a top executive compensation attorney in The Legal 500 and Chambers USA Guide to America's Leading Lawyers for Business. Mr. Goldstein previously spent several years as a partner in a major New York City mergers and acquisitions firm. He been part of some of the last decade's most significant corporate transactions, among them the purchase of South African Breweries PLC by Miller Brewing Company, the merger of J.P. Morgan Chase & Co. with Bank One Corporation, and the acquisition of AT&T Corp. by SBC Communications, Inc.

Jeremy Goldstein earned a JD from New York University (NYU) School of Law. He remains involved with the school as a member of the Professional Advisory Board for the NYU Journal of Law and Business. Within the New York City community, he helps support mental health programs for local residents as a member of the Fountain House board of directors.
