Email: info@remilandau.com

Remi Landau works as a fashion designer in New York City. In her work, she creates new designs for her company's social nightwear line. After Remi Landau finishes a design, it is made into a sample for her company's upcoming line of clothing.

To work in this role, Ms. Landau leverages her unique background in the legal and entertainment industries. While working on her bachelor's degree at Syracuse University, she held internships at companies in the fields of law and entertainment that allowed her to collaborate with editorial teams and marketing teams. She also worked directly with clients to ensure they were comfortable during events and had their needs and expectations met.

In college, Ms. Landau belonged to the Entrepreneurship Class, the Hillel Jewish Student Union, and the Sigma Delta Tau sorority. Because of her involvement in these organizations, she developed a diverse network of fellow students and gained hands-on experience in fundraising and hosting events for charitable organizations.

In her free time, Ms. Landau enjoys a wide range of hobbies, including drawing, calligraphy, and music. In addition, she supports nature conservation and is fond of scuba diving.
