

Thomas Jurbala (Las Vegas)

Thomas Jurbala - Committed to Giving Seniors a Community

Thomas Jurbala is a leading developer of senior living communities in the Las Vegas area. In his role as director of senior housing with the Calida Group based in Las Vegas, Nevada, Thomas Jurbala specializes in developing senior assisted-living facilities.

Dedicated to designing state-of-the-art rehabilitation and assisted living facilities, Mr. Jurbala is an accomplished developer and leads Calida Group's asset management efforts. His portfolio includes senior residential projects throughout the western United States that offer skilled nursing, memory care, and assisted living services in addition to high-end amenities and a community atmosphere.

Thomas Jurbala is an active member of his community and supports a variety of charitable organizations. Among these nonprofits are the Alzheimer's Association and Three Square, a Feeding America affiliate which serves four southern Nevada counties by supplying its community partners with the food and services which they in turn provide directly to people in need at numerous neighborhood locations.
